

BOLD TOM REED IS RICH.

The Maine Congressman Said Not to be in Politics Solely for Glory.

He Lives at Morton's Hotel and Spends Nearly All His Salary for Board.

The Champion of the Railroads Against the Grangers—The Only Maine Man Who Fights Blaine.

Tom Reed is the only candidate for speaker who is rich enough to afford living at Plutocrat Morton's aristocratic hotel, says the Chicago Herald. For the room and board of himself and wife Mr. Reed will pay something like $300 a month. This is more than three-fifths of his salary, but let nobody imagine Mr. Reed to be a bad financier or the least bit thrifless. He is a money-making Yankee, and has no hesitancy about declaring that he is not in politics for glory alone. If Reed wins the speakership all the railroad corporations and the capitalistic classes in general will be very well satisfied. Reed is somewhat of a capitalist himself, and has been charged with the ownership of $100,000 worth of Union Pacific railway bonds. This charge has been repeatedly made against him during his campaigns, and Reed has never vouchsafed reply or explanation. His friendliness to railroads, and to the Union Pacific railroad in particular, is well known. Between Reed and Charles Francis Adams there exists an intimate friendship. It follows that Reed is not the sort of a man the grangers of the west should like to see in the speaker's chair. If there is anything for which the Maine gentleman who looks like Shakespeare has abhorrence it is the grangerism of the west as applied to the railroad question. Let Mr. Reed have his way and the state of Iowa would be hauled up before the supreme court and tried on a charge of constitutional treason. Reed has grown up in a community of investors, in a land of rock and sterile stretches that Yankee thrift has made bloom with savings banks and gold-fattened stockpiles. Mr. Reed's constituents are owners of railroad stocks, principally western stocks, which perhaps is the reason why they don't mind the little matter of $100,000 of Union Pacific collateral resting serenely in Mr. Reed's box in the safety vault at Boston. He has gradually grown to be looked upon as a sort of champion of the rights of railroad investors as against the encroachments of grangerism, and it will be worth while to see how much railroad influence will be thrown in his favor. In every congress there are about seventy-five men who are owned body and soul by some railroad corporation. Probably this congress will prove no exception to the rule. Generally speaking, it may be said Reed is the railroad candidate. McKinley the favorite of the high tariff manufacturing rings, while Cannon and Henderson represent the grangers. It is pretty safe to say that Reed or McKinley will win, more likely the former.

There is one thing that can be said in Reed's favor. He has nerve and plenty of it. He is the sort of chap that in the middle ages would have crawled out of his birthplace in the hovel and overturned the lord in the castle—the sort that in the wild west takes no man's sass, but pulls his gun and stands up for his rights and his dignity, no matter at what odds. Reed has nerve enough to fight James G. Blaine in the state of Maine. He has been fighting him for several years, and successfully at that. He is the only Maine republican who has had the courage to quarrel with Blaine and the genius to save himself from destruction. Fry doesn't like Blaine, and on the dead quip says awfully smart and cruel things about the family and fiscal honor of the present secretary of state. But politically he joins hands with the Blaine crowd. Reed has plenty of enemies in his own district—men of wealth and influence who adhere to the Blaine. But somehow he manages to beat them all every year. Perhaps nothing shows up to better advantage the force and genius of the man than this fact of his coming term after term to congress against the wishes of Blaine and his followers and over the prostrate bodies of a score of influential enemies in his own city and district.

One of the most perplexing problems of patronage which President Harrison has now to deal with grows out of Bold Tom Reed's stand against the dictator of Maine. The collectorship of the port of Portland is the chief federal office in the state. Portland is in Reed's district, and he claims that office as his own. Blaine and all the congressional delegation from Maine unite in declaring that this office belongs as much to them as to Reed. They have their candidate and Reed his candidate. Poor Mr. Harrison is said to be in a dreadful state of mind over the matter. He is afraid on the one hand of going against the next speaker of the house, and on the other of running counter to the wishes of the Blaine coterie. Therefore he does as he always does in such cases—postpones decision till everybody is too tired to make any further row. The present collector at Portland, a good democrat, is likely to hold his job for two or three years.

It is astonishing how rapidly the feeble and debilitated gain strength and vigor when taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. For what are called "broken-down constitutions," nothing else has proved so effective as this powerful and perfectly safe medicine.

Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup.

Is giving splendid satisfaction to the trade and the sales are positively marvelous, which can be accounted for in no other way except that it is without doubt the best on the market. Ask for and be sure you get the genuine. We keep it. R. S. Hale & Co., Druggists.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood. Only half a dollar a bottle at R. S. Hale & Co.'s drug store.

Croup Can Be Prevented.

We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. There is no question about this; as it has been done in thousands of cases, and you may depend upon it that when a child takes the croup, it is wholly owing to the negligence of its parents. True croup never appears without due and timely warning; a few hours, or a day or two before the attack, the child becomes hoarse. This hoarseness is the first indication of croup, and is a sure sign that croup is to follow, unless promptly and properly treated. The free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed, with each bottle, under the heading "to prevent croup," will dispel all symptoms of the disease. The first sign of croup, hoarseness, may be overlooked by young mothers or those not familiar with the disease. Under such circumstances, or when not properly treated, the hoarseness becomes more marked and the child shows symptoms of having taken cold, then a peculiar rough cough is developed. Even at this stage Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent the croup, but after the cough has developed, the croup is liable to appear at any moment. The proper way, is to keep a bottle of this remedy at hand. It costs but fifty cents, and only a few doses, or, at most, not over one-third of a bottle is required to dispel all symptoms of the disease. Can you afford to risk so much for so little? There is not the least danger in giving this remedy in large and frequent doses, which are always required, as it contains no injurious substance. As proof of this fact, we refer to Mr. John L. Olson of Des Moines, Ia., whose 10-months-old boy drank the entire contents of a fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without the least injury. For sale by H. M. Pachen & Co.

Heretofore Strength
Continually on the strain, or overtaxed at intervals, is far less desirable than ordinary vigor perpetuated by rational diet and exercise, and abstention from excess. Professional pugilists and athletes rarely attain old age. As ordinary vigor may be retained by a wise regard for sanitary living, and for the protection against disease which timely and judicious medication affords, so also it may be lost through prolonged sedentary labor, uninterrupted mental strain, and foolish eating and drinking, the chief and most immediate sequence of all four being dyspepsia. For this condition, thus, or in any way induced, and for its offspring, a failure of muscular and nerve power, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the primeval and most genial of remedies. Not only indigestion, but loss of flesh, appetite and sleep are remedied by it. Incipient malaria and rheumatism are banished, and kidney, bowel and liver complaint removed by it.

What a Fortune.
Is a good healthy, pearly skin. Few are aware of the short time it takes for a disordered liver to cause blotches on the face, and a dark greasy skin. One bottle of BEGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will restore this organ to its natural and healthy state, and cleanse the blood of all impurities. It is meeting with wonderful success. We guarantee every bottle. R. S. Hale & Co., Druggists.

Woman's Discovery.
"Another wonderful discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at R. S. Hale & Co.'s drug store.

Unsurpassed in the World.
The vestibuled trains of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, running daily between St. Paul and Minneapolis and Milwaukee and Chicago, are the perfection of modern railway equipment, and are unsurpassed in the world. They consist of elegant day coaches, Pullman's latest and best sleeping cars and the finest dining cars in the country. These trains are lighted by electricity and heated by steam, and afford to the traveler every comfort and convenience to be had at the very best hotels. All classes of tickets are honored on these trains and the rates are no higher than by other lines. It is for this reason that discriminating travelers patronize this company and insist that their tickets read over its line, as they naturally want the best service for their money.
